NOT ENOUGH PLACES IN THE ARMY FOR ALL THE WEST POINT CADEIS.

Where Will Be 50 Graduates and Only 45 Vacancies-Senator McClelland's Pall at the Treasury Department-New York Ap plicants for Office-Internal Revenue Collectors To Be Appointed When the Presi dent Returns from His Visit to Hog Island

WASHINGTON, June 2.-The War Department has been struggling with the problem lately of how to provide for this year's graduating class of cadets at West Point. The an investigation into the number of vacancies now actually existing in all branches of the service shows that by July 1, when the class will be commissioned Lieutenants, there will probably be a lack of places for three or four nen, unless the rule of previous years is followed and some of the cadets are made addi tional Lioutenants, towait untilvacancies occur. The class graduating on the 12th has fifty one members, one of which is a foreigner, taking the course by the courtesy of this Government, and who will return to his country after graduating. This leaves fifty members to be with commissions, unless some o

ment, and who will return to his country after graduating. This leaves fifty members to be provided with commissions, unless some of the cadets fail en the annual examination. There are now forty-five vacancies in the artillery, cavairy, and infantry, and none in the engineer corps. The infantry has more than the usual number, and aiready there are thirty places for the cadets in this branch of the army, with prospects for two more. The artillery will claim three and the cavairy twelve. There are now seven additional Lieutenants appointed from last year's class and the year before walting for vacancies in the engineer corps, and two more will be added from the class in June. Six non-commissioned officers have recently passed examinations for Second Lieutenancies, one the son of an army officer, and these will be commissioned in June, leaving at least ten vacancies to be created by July in order to take in the whole class. A number of officers will soon be ordered to appear before listiring Boards on account of physical disabilities, which will increase the number of places for the West Pointers to nearly enough for all.

There is no fear that any of the cadets who complete the course will be relegated to private life, as by a ruling of the department some years ago those who are not provided for will be assigned as additionals to wait until room is made for them. The assignments to the four branches of the army is usually made upon the standing of the cadets and the recommendations of the Academic Board, but it frequently happens that both are ignored and the Secretary overy year by the parents of cadets to have their sons assigned to other the engineer corps or the artillery branch, on account of the advantages both offer, by reason of their pleasant duty and certainty of always being stationed at some of the large cities where most of the posts are located. The rule at the academy for fifty years or more has been to appoint eadets in their classes are usually selected for the Engineer Corps, and those followi Lieutenant in some other regiment.

influential Blue Grass Democrats who are not in Congress are waging an interesting contest in Washington over the distribution of the Federal patronage of the State. The internal revenue collectorships are the important appointments in Kentucky, and on them turns the local politics to a considerable extent. The choice of the next Senator may depend largely upon these appointments not to mention future nominations to the House. Up to this time there has been only one collector appointed, that in Mr. McCreary's district, and McCreary's man got the place. The other places are yet to be illled. The importance of these places arises from the fact that under each Collector there is a very large amount of patronage, Estate, of the Collectors have more than 200 employees, suit the Appointments being made right at home, they flure to a very considerable extent in politics. The Post Offices and the outside patronage are nothing alongside of this. There is a fight in each collection district, but the hardest is in the Fifth, which is in both Montgomery's and Caruth's district. Caruth has a man for the place, claiming that the appointment should go to Louisville, and the Courier-Journal is supporting the Louisville man. Montgomery and the Senators are supporting him. The result is awaited with interest. It is thought that Montgomery and the Benators will win.

State Senator Charles P. McClelland, in adin Congress are waging an interesting contest

The Kentucky delegation in Congress and State Sepator Charles P. McClelland, in a ltion to being a candidate for the New York Collectorship, appears to have a "pull" with the Secretary of the Treasury. To-day several appointments were announced, among the Secretary of the Treasury. To-day several appointments were announced, among them an Inspector of Customs at New York. The lucky man was Stephen L. Purdy, and his sponsor was State Senator McClelland. In the same list of appointments the name of Peter J. Donohue appears. He is to be Assistant Inspector of Boilers in New York City. He has the endorsement of Representatives Magner. Clancey, Graham, and Coomhe of Brooklyn.

Among the New York applications recorded at the Treasury Department to-day were the following: J. H. Horsfall of New York to be Appraiser of Merchandises; Joseph Y. Paige of Albany, to be Deputy Commissioner of Navigation; Robert Ganz of New York; to be special agent to examine the tin plate industry; W. Y. Nunn of New York; to be Special Inspector of Customs; Talbott Rost of New York; to be Assistant Appraiser at New York; James H. Wischester of New York; James H. Wischester of New York; James A. Hanlon of Medina, to be Collector of Internal Revenue for the Twenty-eighth district; W. H. McGuire of New York, to be Assistant Appraiser; Thomas E. Laffin, to be Collector of Customs at Bochester, and Frank J. Headley of Milton, N. J., to be special agent at the New York Custom House.

First Comptroller Rowler of the Treasury Department has a knotty legal question unde consideration. When the last Congress ex pired the cierk to the River and Harbor Com-mittee was alive. Recently he died, and the former Chairman appointed a new man testhe place. The disbursing officer of the House refused to pay the new man, on the ground that, Congress having expired, there were no committees in existence, and consequently no chairmen, so that no one had the power of ap-pointment. This is the first time the question has ever come up for legal decision.

When the President returns from his fish ing trip to Hog Island. Va., he will take up the papers in the cases of between fifteen and papers in the cases of between fifteen and twenty collectors of internal revenue, which now await his action. Commissioner Miller spent a week in considering them, and made has recommendations. Secretary Carlisle spent several days last week in looking them ever, and has fully made up his mind as to whom he wants in each case. He will go over the list again with the Fresident. Had Mr. Gleveland not been absent from the city this week the appointments would have been made before now. In the mean time Appointment Clerk Kretz is getting to the names of the old collectors lwho have tendered their resignations, and those whose places are wanted, but who have not done so, will be requested to do so at once.

The following named persons have been appointed cadets at the West Point Military Academy: J. H. Hughes. Thirteenth New York district: A. P. Brennan, Fourteenth New York district: M. J. Galvin, alternate, Fourteenth Sew York district: C. J. King, Amherst, Mass.: R. W. Drury, alternate, Athol. Mass.

Unofficial advices from members of the Beh sing Sea Commission in Paris do not give any hope for an early close of the arguments. Besides Sir Charles Russell, whose speech has just closed, Great Britain will present other attorneys, but how much time they will require it is impossible to foretell. After they have finished, Mr. F. J. Phelps and Mr. H. W. Blodgelf, of counsel for the United States, are still to be heard. NEW YORK TRIBUNE,

He Says the Republican Party to Badly De ralized and Needs New Leads WASHINGTON, June 2 .- "Colonel" Henry L. Swords, who figured so conspicuously in the two last Republican campaigns as a "plunger" in the election betting pool, says he does not headquarters in New York city, with Jos Manley of Maine in charge. Colonel Swords has been identified with the Republican National Committee in some official capacity for the past eight years, and he is supposed to know what the status of the "grand old party" is at the present time. In commenting upon the announcement that the Republican party by establishing a permanent head quarters in New York, Col. Swords says the Republican National Committee is not financially able to enjoy the luxury of a permanent establishment in New York city. It requires money to rent and furnish a house and pay a sufficient clerical force. Besides, the man in charge must receive something for his services. Altogether, several thousand dollars are necessary to support such an establishment. At the present time the National Committee has not the ent time the National Committee has not the money and there are but few men in the party just now who are willing to advance the amount required.

In reviewing the political situation from a Republican standpoint, Colonel Swords says that the party just now appears to be in a badly demoralized condition, and a new leader is needed to infuse fresh life and vigor into the rank and file. Harrison, McKinley, Clarkson, Aiger, Allison, Sherman, and all of the old commanders of the Republican army lack the vote-getting quality, he says, and the party must centre upon some new man who is not identified with either faction. The Colonel says that the name of ex-vice-President Morton meets a friendly response in various parts of the country, for it is generally conceded that he is one of the strong men of the party. Besides, there is a feeling that he was badly troated at Minneapolis. The proposition to run Mr. Morton for Governor of New York against Gov. Flower is not considered practicable, in view of the present condition of things in the Empire State. The Democrats are so thoroughly and efficiently organized that it is impossible to defeat them.

Representative Caldwell of Ohio is in Washington for a few days preparatory to going home to engage in the coming fight over the Governorship. He says that the Herubileans are going to renominate and reflect Gov. McKinley, but he dees not say why he regards home to engage in the coming fight over the Governorship. He says that the Republicans are going to renominate and redect Gov. Mc-Kinley, but he does not say why he regards Mckinley as being stronger now than he was two years ago. Mr. Caldwell is not enthusiastic over the Republican outlook from a national point of view, and, like Colonel Swords, he is scanning the political horizon for a new Republican Moses to lead his party in the next campaign. He says that the Republicans in the West are growing weary of the old leaders and are anxious for some new blood in the front ranks. Mr. Caldwell is under the impression that ex-Gov. Campbell will be the Democratic nominee for Governor against Mr. McKinley, notwithstanding his announcement to the contrary. The nomination of "Larry" Neal, the author of the tariff plank in the Chicago platform, is possible, but Mr. Caldwell does not consider it probable. Mr. Neal is popular with a certain element in the State, but he is bitterly opposed by the friends of ex-Gov. Campbell. Although the latter may not want to try conclusions again with Gov. McKinley, he may have strength enough to prevent the nomination of Neal. In that event a compromise candidate may be brought in. In any event. Mr. Caldwell is confident that Gov. McKinley will succeed himself.

Paris, Tex., June 2.-Inspector Faison, who was sent by the Interior Department to investigate the Choctaw troubles, has aroused the enmity of the Choctaws. Yesterday a large mass meeting of full bloods was held at Sugarloaf, in the Chostaw Nation, where a series of resolutions were unanimously adopted. They declare that the Choctaws have watched Faison's course and charge that he is ignorant of the Choctaw laws; that he lacks deliberation and firmness; that he has been unfair in his investigations, and that he has refused to conducting himself as a fair and impartial officer without reference to parties or factions, he told various persons that if they wanted to win and retain the offices of the Nation they ought to have managed the elections as he and his people did by fixing the ballot boxes, and he stated how it was done where he came from: that such conduct was unbecoming an officer in his position, and tended to corrupt and allenate an alroady distressed and emhittered people: that he is not the man to actie these troubles, but will increase them; that in the interest of harmony he should at once be replaced by a fair, impartial, and discreet man; that they will not cooperate with any unfair man, but entered a soid protest against his further retention in his present position. Copies of the resolutions were forwarded to President Cleve and and Secretary Smith of the Interior Department. IS THERE A LOCAL OPTION LAW Judge George B. Bradley Disagrees With ROCHESTER, June 2.-Judge George B. Bradev of the Supreme Court sat in the Court House library yesterday afternoon reading Judge Parker's decision on the question of local option in this State. After a careful perusal of the article he stepped to a shelf and took down a copy of the session laws of 1892.

"There," said he, pointing to a portion of the excise law. "local option stands in this State just as much as it ever did, and there's the law for it."

The section is a part of an act to revise and consolidate the laws regulating the sale of intoxicating liquors and reads:

"Nothing herein, except section 31, shall in the sale of the manner of

Nothing herein, except section 31, shall in any manner apply to any town where the majority of voters have voted for or hereafter vote for local prohibition, until such town shall reverse by vote such local prohibition.

Section 31, which is referred to, simply declares that any person selling liquor without a license, which is to be drunk on his premises, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Kinosron, June 2.—Judge Bradley's statement seems to be based upon a misunderstanding of Judge Parker's decision in the excise cases. Judge Parker did not hold that the Roesch law repealed the Local Option law the held that there was no Local Option law at the time the Roesch law was enacted.

FARROW ARRESTED FOR PERJURY. Another Twist in the Complicated Barne Park Littgation.

Lawyer Edward H. Murphy of 11 Wall street. counsel for the Holland Trust Company, who was arrested in April, charged with suborning witness, was honorably discharged yesterday, Justice Ryan, before whom the examination was conducted in the Tombs Police Court, declaring that the presention, had failed to prove my one of their numerous allegations. Mr. Murphy was arrested on complaint of Hiram T. Downing of Barnegat Park. Downing declared that he was to have been the principal witness for the plaintiff in the case of Oliver D. Robinson against George W. Van Sicien for the conversion of about $6,000 of promissory notes and mortgages. The case

Downing alleged that he came here on April s, and that the next day, while going to see the plaintiff's lawyers, Nicholas & Bacon, Murphy met him and, by threats and bribes, induced him to go to the United States Hotel. After keeping him there for several hours Murphy is alleged to have said: "If you will go with me to the Court House and testify as I all you, you can break down the testimony of Parrow and Phelps (witnesses for the plaintiff), and I will put you in a position with the Holland Trust Company that will pay you handsomely, and will give you full charge of its real estate affairs at Barnegat Park as soon as Farrow is disposed of. Downing also alleged that he was taken to court by Murphy in a carriage and kept in the Court House for several hours, but finally managed to escape. In court yesterday Col. Fellows appeared for Mr. Murphy, and offered in avidence a confession made by Downing in this city on March 28, in which he asknowledged that he, with Lieut, Edward S. Farrow, the former Sacretary and Treasurer of the Barnegat Park Company, had prepared a deed on March 1, 1832, purporting to have been made out to Downing by the Barnegat Park Company in February. 1831, for a ten-acre tract of land in the park, on which was situated the hotel known as The Pines. The signatures were forged, and the profits of the scheme were to have been divided, Downing alleged, between himself, Farrow, and Marcus W. Conkling. Col. Fellows also showed that the receiver of the Barnegat Park Company had declared the deed bogus, but that in the law suit which followed, on the testimony of Downing and Farrow, the Court had declared it valid. Downing's confession was subsequently sent to Chancellor McGill. Downing and Farrow, the Court had declared it valid. Downing's confession was subsequently sent to Chancellor McGill of New Jersey, who thereupon pronounced the deed to grand Jury at Trenton, and a few days ago Downing and Farrow were indicated to the Grand Jury at Trenton, and a few days ago Downing and Farrow were indicated to accomment the deed to grand Jury at Trenton, and a few days ago Downing and Farrow. THE DISHEARTENED CAGE BUILDER. Nearly $25 of the Needed $104 Already

The story of the struggles of Tinsmith Xavier Gastiger of Woodhaven to save the bird cage he spent two years in building for the World's Fair from being sold by the Sheriff for debt is attracting widespread interest. The cage was seized in Gastiger's tin shop more than a week ago, and taken to the Sheriff's Office in the Queens County Court House in Long Island City, where it is daily admired and inspected by scores of callers. Sheriff Norton says the cage is worth at least $700, but unless Gastiger can raise $104 by Wednesday of next week it will protably be knocked down to some curio-

The probabilities are that, had the visitors who have called to see the cage been made to money turned over to Gastiger, he would have probably want to view the cage during their attendance at court.

In the mean time the unfortunate tinsmith is endeavoring to pluck up courage and get to work again. His grief was inconsolable the first few days after the seizure of the cage. It was not until Sheriff Norton kindly consented to postpone the sale for another week that he became himself again. Since then he has been struggling almost day and night to interest former friends who knew him in his more fortunate days to aid him in reclaiming the cage. But it is an almost horeless task, and but for the sympathy and assistance of unknown friends whose hearts have been touched by the tale of his sorrows, he would be almost friendless as well as penniless. BURGLAR DAVIS HELD.

Mr. Rives and Mr. Lanter Identify Their Stolen Property.

Burglar Frank Davis, who claims to hall from Chicago, and whom it took twenty-five of Inspector McLaughlin's detectives to run down, was held in $5,000 bail for the Grand Jury at the Tombs Police Court yesterday afternoon. He had been arraigned in the morning, but as none of his victims appeared he was remanded back to Police Headquarters. When the detectives were putting the handcuffs on him Davis said: "I don't think those folks will bother coming to court to jug a poor fellow like me. They're rich, and can afford to lose all I took."

In the afternoon, however, Mr. Georgy L. Rivée of 14 West Thirty-eighth street, and Mr. Charles Lanier of 30 East Thirty-seventh street, appeared against the prisoner. A SPOILED COSTUME.

THE DISASTROUS EFFECT OF THE WIND AND THE DUST.

A Lady's Mishap-She Mouraed the Loss of a Gown and Bid Not Realize that She Was Losing Her Complexion and Ea-dangering Her Health.

"My new costume was nearly spolled by the wind and the dust yesterday." This sad remark was made by a charming New York lady who had been out upon a shopping expedition the day before. The wind, the dust, and the various evils which abound in the city had injured her costume, but she did not realize that this was the least injury. The wind and the dust injure the complexion worse than they do the costume. They give it a sallow appearance, often erack the skin, and make the person look much older than is really the case. Nor is this the worst. The wind blows particles of matter, often filled with the germs of disease, that are taken into the nostrils and mouth, and frequently cause the undermining of the health and too often the life. These are great evils, and can be overcome in only one manner, and that is by keeping the nerve force and vitality in active condition and perfect shape. It is true this is difficult to do, but eventually the most wonderful discovery of modern times, made by Prof. Phelps, known as l'aine's celery compound, if taken regularly and constantly, will not only enrich the blood and strengthen the nerves, so as to prevent injury to the health, but by these very means restore the complexion to its freshfiess and ruddiness, even after it has been apparently destreyed by the evils of the wind, dust, and atmosphere. There are thousands of women in New York to-day that look ten years younger than they really are, because they keep in perfect condition by the use of this modern discovery. It is not a cheap sarsaparilla, nervine, or anything of the kind; it is a scientific compound devised by a scientist and used by those who desire to keep in the heat condition, preserve their health and youth and happiness.—Adv. the nerve force and vitality in active condition

Annapolis, June 2.-Forty-four naval cadets thirty-eight of whom are connected with the line division and six of whom are in the engineer corps. Admiral Rodgers, and others were also present. The cadets marched to the chapel under command of Liout. Fullam. The Board of Visitors walked past the Lattalion and entered the chapel. The cadets, after stacking arms, marched in two by two, the graduates taking seats in front of the chancel. The remaining benches were filled with relatives and friends of the cadets and others. After prayer by Chapiain Clark, Noah Brooks of Newark. N. J., one of the Board of Visitors addressed the cadets. Secretary Herbert said a cheering word to each cadet as he handed him his diploma. The applause was very loud whenever a popular member of the class received his diploma. At the close Cadet Powelson stepped out from the ranks and called for three cheers. For those we leave behind us," and the battalion in return gave. Three cheers were also given for the Secretary of the Navy.

The battalion then formed in front of the chapel and the band played "Ain't I glad I'm out of the wilderness" as the battalion was marched off. To-night the grand ball was held.

THE MONTEREY ALL RIGHT, Naval Inspectors Say She Is Second to

None of Her Class. VALLEJO, Cal., June 2.-The Monterey is still awaiting the verdict of her judges. This morning Capt. Howaison convened the Board of Naval Inspectors for the purpose of making and botlers. The inspection lasted the greater portion of the day, much of the time being devoted to the boilers. A thorough inspection and test of both Scotch and Ward boilers resulted in finding neither leak nor bulge nor strain, though the steam pressure during the trial registered over 100 rounds to the inch. The same in-spection was made of the auxiliary machinery, every part of which was found in excellent condition. Considerable time was spent in examining the turrets, but all was found satisfactory.

The Board in making the report have pro-nounced the Monterey to be all that the con-tract required. They have suggested, how-ever some minor alterations, which, if approved over some minor alterations, which, if approved and executed, they believe will result advantageously. These suggested alterations apply only to the mechanism of the turrets and ammunition hoists. The Board concluded its laber, late this afternoon and signed the report, which is now en route to Washington. Each member of the Board said the Monterey is all right and second to none of her class.

ELECTION DAY NEAR FOR THE COTH. Plenty of Candidates for Major, but Doubl

There is a deal of hustling going on in the Sixty-ninth Regiment just now in preparation for the election for Major that will be ordered in two weeks. Perhaps in no regiment in this State is the rivalry for commissions hotter than in the Sixty-ninth. Under the new regulations this regiment is entitled to another Major, and a third Major will be elected as snow as the regiment has the full quota of twelve companies. Gen. Cavanagh said last nigh that the election would be ordered in two weeks, if Gen. Fitzgerald had no objection Ever since the new regulations went into effect several officers have been canvassing, and the prospect now is that it will be a closely con-

Adjt. John Murphy is now apparently very strongly in the lead. Capt. Hugh Coleman is another candidate. An officer who is rustling for Adit. Murphy said last night:

"There is a possible chance of a dead-lock in this election, and in that case the selection of a Major will rest with the Governor. That is the remedy in such cases. At the present time, however. adjt. Murphy has a majority of the officers pledged to support him. Capt. Coleman is making a hard flight, nd Capt. Lynch and Capt. McCarthy are in the race. As nearly as I can find out Capt. Coleman cannot count on more than seven or eight votes. There are twentynine officers in the regiment who are entitled to vote at this election. If Capt. Coleman can control eight votes and Capts. Lynch and McCarthy remain in the race there may be a deallock. I have understood that Capt. Coleman thinks that he atands a good chance of being appointed Major by Gov. Flower in such an emergency."

Capt. Coleman was the Republican nominee for Register at the last municipal election. Adjt. Murphy, it is said, has the support of Gon. Cavanagh, and this is astrong point in his favor. Gen. Cavanagh, and this is astrong point in his favor. Gen. Cavanagh, and this is astrong point in his favor. Gen. Cavanagh, and this is a strong point in his favor. Gen. Cavanagh has thus far taken no part in the cavanas, nor is he likely to, but it is asserted that he will vote for Adjt. Murphy. Lieut.-Col. Moran is an unknown quantity when it comes to an election. Friends of each of the candidates have approached him with the question. "Well, what do you think of my candidate?"

In each case Lieut.-Col. Moran has replied:

Yes, he's a good fellow. I'd like to see him elected Major."

As a matter of fact it is generally suspected that Lieut.-Col. Moran is just now more inter-Adjt. Murphy has a majority of the officers

As a matter of fact it is generally suspected that Licut.-Col. Moran is just now more interested in speculating as to who shall succeed Gen. Cavanagh in the command of the regiment than in elections for Major.

PIFTY-TWO HEAD SOLD TESTERDAY FOR $67,700.

The Colt by Salvator Out of Lon Lanter Brought Top Price, Going to Charles Fletschman for 87,300-Marens Daly Pays 86,500 for the Filly by Balvator Out of Lizzie Lucas-Miss Woodford's Daughter Note to Green B. Morris & Co. for 85,000 -No By-bidding, Says Mr. Haggin,

The second day's sale of the Bancho Del Page thoroughbred yearlings yesterday at the Morris Park race track attracted another large crowd of horsemen. It was after 12 o'clock when the first yearling was led into the ring. and at the same moment Mr. Haggin stepped into the auctioneer's stand and asked permission to make a statement.

Mr. Haggin said: "It has been remarked that this sale is not being conducted fairly. and that bidding in my interest has been indulged in. This is not the first experience of this kind I have had, and similar insinuations have been made at pre-vious sales. I beg to say they are malicious and utterly without foundation. At one sale Mr. Bayley is accused of bidding in my interest; at another Mr. McDonald, and again Mr. Daly. If I wished to reserve these colts. I could do so without incurring the risk of a long journey and the cost of shipping, by simply keeping them at home. I wish it thoroughly understood that I have no reserve on them, and that it is not in my power to preso, and the only way you can prevent it is to bid high enough, and by doing so you will have an equal chance with Mr. Daly, and it will certainly be a benefit and a pleasure to will certainly be a benefit and a pleasure to me."

The bidding was in some instances very spirited, particularly when the get of Nalvator were offered. Six head by the champion were sold for $23,300, an average of $4.883. The highest figure reached was paid for the chest-nut colt by this great sire out of Lou Lanier, Mr. Charles Fleischman giving $7,300 for him. Both the colt and his luyer received an ovation when the hammer fell.

Marcus Daly's representative was again to the front as the heaviest buyer, taking three of the Salvator youngsters for $15,200. Green H. Morris secured the Salvator filly out of Miss Woodford for $5,000. She is a racy looking beauty and the counterpart of her dam. Superintendent Byrnes, when asked yesterday if he had anything to say regarding Excise Commissioner Andrews's statement before the Board of Fatimate and Apportionment to the effect that the excise law was not sufficiently enforced, said:

"Yes. I have this to say. If Commissioner Andrews had informed himself of the work of the police in enforcing the law. I feel assured that he would never have made that statement. We receive a weekly report from each Captain showing how the law is violated, and the measures taken to enforce it. This and additional reports are premptly sent to the Excise Board whenever they want them. If think the police are doing the best they can in enforcing the law, and the creation of more excise inspectors would only be additional soft snaps for politicians.

The first appearance was of little pimples, accompanied by intense itching, soon spreading into sores covered with soabs, except when scratched off. The entire body, except head, was covered. He almost lost the use of his limbs, and was so light I could carry him about like an infant. Used all remedies I could find recommended in medical works for itching without beneft. Applied to different physiciana, receiving temporary relief, but the disease was sure to return. I sent for your pamphlet, read it, purchased a set of CUTICURA REMEDIES. Manning appeared and said that he believed his bid was the lowest, but his experts were not yet ready to make a report, owing to the difficulty encountered in securing the data from which a tabulation could be made. He asked a postponement.

Williams's for $107,23%, Michael J. Nolan of the Arous said he spoke in the capacity of an expert for Mr. Manning, and declared that Mr. Lyon had not been living up to his contract.

The Commission postponed action until June 15 at 10 A. M., to afford Mr. Nolan a chance to prove that Mr. Manning's bid is the lowest.
